FOREWORD

Thank you for getting my free catalogue.

As the title says, this is a full compilation of my favourite legendary toy robots from Japan.

From Gundam in the late 70s to Appleseed Machina in 2007, the catalogue showcases both robot model kits and characters in premium quality and exclusively imported from both Japan and China.

As well as the history of how those stories behind those robots came about.

So sit back and enjoy reading as I am about to reveal everything.

1 MOBILE SUIT GUNDAM

MOBILE SUIT GUNDAM – ALSO known as First Gundam, Gundam 0079 or simply Gundam 79 is a televised anime series, produced by Sunrise.

Created and directed by Yoshiyuki Tomino, it premiered in Japan on Nagoya Broadcasting Network and its affiliated ANN stations on April 7, 1979 and lasted until January 26, 1980, spanning 43 episodes.

It was the very first Gundam series, which has subsequently been adapted into numerous sequels and spin-offs.

Set in the futuristic calendar year Universal Century 0079, the plot focuses on the war between the Principality of Zeon and the Earth Federation, with the latter unveiling a new giant robot known as the RX-78-2 Gundam piloted by the teenage civilian mechanic Amuro Ray.

In 1981, the series was re-edited for theatrical release and split into 3 movies.

The characters were designed by Yoshikazu Yasuhiko, and Kunio Okawara was responsible for the mechanical designs, including the eponymous giant robot, the RX-78-2 Gundam.

2 MY FAVOURITE TOY ROBOTS

The first movie was released on February 22, 1981. Tomino himself also wrote a trilogy of novels that retell the events of the series.

Subsequent double manga adaptations of the series have also been written by 2 manga artists.

Despite initial low ratings that caused the series' cancellation, the popularity of Gundam saw a boost from the introduction of Bandai's Gundam models in 1980 and from reruns and the theatrical release of the anime, leading to the creation of a prolific and lucrative media and toy franchise.

The series is famous for revolutionizing the giant robot genre due to the handling of mobile suits as weapons of war and portrayal of their pilots as ordinary soldiers, as opposed to the previous style of portraying hero pilots and their giant super hero robots.

The Gundam F91 (F91 standing for Formula 91) is the titular mobile suit of Mobile Suit Gundam series.

The unit is piloted by Seabook Arno.

Another F91, colored dark blue and yellow, is piloted by Harrison Martin.

Reduced in height compared to its famous predecessor (15.2 meters compared to 18.5) and mass (19.9

tons fully loaded while the RX-78 took off fully loaded at 60.0), the F91 was immensely more powerful.

It is armed with a pair of machine cannons in the chest, Vulcan guns in the head, a pair of back mounted variable speed beam rifles, beam sabers, newly developed beam shield.

That was much more effective than the solid state shields used by past mobile suits, and can be optionally equipped with a beam rifle and a beam launcher.

2 MACROSS

MACROSS IS A SERIES OF science fiction mecha anime created by Shōji Kawamori of Studio Nue in 1982.

The franchise features a fictional history of Earth after the year 1999.

It consists of 3 TV series, 4 movies, 6 OVAs, 1 light novel and 5 manga series, all sponsored by Big West Advertising.

Within the series, the term Macross is used to denote the main capital ship.

This theme began in the original Macross - also known as Super Dimensional Fortress Macross.

Over technology refers to the scientific advances discovered in an alien starship that crashed on South Pacific island.

With this technology, Earth was able to reverse engineer the technology to create the mecha as in Veritech fighters and Destroids, faster-than-light space fold drive for starships and other advanced technologies that the series features.

The first TV series with edited content and a revised script was released as the first part of Robotech in the U.S.

MACROSS SDF-1 SUPER DIMENSION FORTRESS

Super Dimensional Fortress-1 - better known simply as the SDF-1 - was the most historically significant warship in human history.

Originally Zor's battlefortress, the SDF-1 was sent crashing into Earth's surface in 1999.

The people of Earth united to be-build the ship, which would latter play a pivotal role in the First Robotech War, as well as the hunt for Protoculture across the universe.

The prototype number 001, Skull-One, was originally designated the YF-1.

Roy Fokker flew it during the First Robotech War until his death, and it was then flown by Rick Hunter.

It was the last known surviving VF-1S aboard the SDF-1.

In 2015, the Skull One, the oldest surviving VF-1 in the Robotech Defense Force, was dismantled to aid in the research of the next-generation of Veritech fighters.

Jack Archer was also assigned a VF-1S during his final fights with Zentraedi.

Battlepods are a class of mecha developed for use by the Imperial Zentraedi Forces.

Their cockpit controls make use of standard controls and typically seated a single full-sized Zentraedi warrior.

However, humans are capable piloting a Battlepod with at least 3 capable of being used to utilize the controls.

They are able to operate not only in planetary environments but underwater and even through space.

The majority of this class shared a standard design namely a tall vehicles with large legs that gave them the capacity to leap across a surface terrain.

A pair of thrusters is also located by the sides that can either be used to maneuver in space, aid in leaping across a surface terrain or to help in descent from drop pods to the ground.

Among the primary advantages of the design include its high mobility and the fact that its capable of being easily manufactured from automated assembly lines.

It is also the sequel to the 2004 Appleseed film, similarly directed by Shinji Aramaki and was produced by Hong Kong director and producer John Woo.

It was released on October 20, 2007 in Japan and made its American premiere at the Jules Verne Adventures Film Festival in Los Angeles on December 15, 2007.

The MPAA has Appleseed Ex Machina rated PG-13 for action violence and brief strong language,[3] though the first film was rated R for some violence.

It was released in North America by Warner Bros. Pictures on March 11, 2008, for DVD and Blu-Ray, and released for HD DVD on April 1, 2008.

It was released in Europe on May 30, 2008 on DVD, with HMV releasing a 2-disc DVD special edition box set in Ireland and the UK, while Blu-Ray edition was released on June 2, 2008.

In July 2008, the film was released theatrically in Australia with other films such as Vexille and The Girl Who Leapt Through Time.

4 PATLABOR

PATLABOR (A PORTMANTEAU OF patrol and labor) is also known as Mobile Police Patlabor.

It is an anime and manga franchise created by Headgear, a group consisting of director Mamoru Oshii, writer Kazunori Itō, mecha designer Yutaka Izubuchi, character designer Akemi Takada, and manga artist Masami Yūki.

The popular franchise includes a manga, a TV series, two OVA series, three feature-length movies, 2 light novel series, and a short film compilation, named Minipato because of its super deformed drawing style.

The series has been adapted into video games and licensed products from OST to toys.

Patlabor is known for using mecha - designed by Yutaka Izubuchi - not just for police or military purposes, but also for industrial and municipal jobs.

Animations from Patlabor were used extensively in the music video Juke Joint Jezebel by KMFDM. The manga received the 36th Shogakukan Manga Award for Shonen in 1991.

The story takes place in what was, at the time of release, the near future of 1998–2002.

38 MY FAVOURITE TOY ROBOTS

Robots called Labors are employed in heavy construction work.

The Tokyo Metropolitan Police has its own fleet of Patrol Labors or Patlabors to combat crimes/terrorism and deal with accidents involving Labors.

The story arcs usually revolve around Tokyo Metropolitan Police Special Vehicle Section 2, Division 2.

Noa Izumi is the main protagonist of the series and the supporting character of the third film, but all of Division 2 play roles.

Hata and Kusumi are main protagonists of the third Patlabor film.

The feature films follow separate continuities, referred to as the movie timeline and the TV timeline.

The different OVA series follow either the movie or TV timelines. The manga also follows its own continuity.

5 ARMORED TROOPER VOTOMS

ARMORED TROOPER VOTOMS IS A MILITARY science fiction mecha anime series, having undergone several incarnations.

The original 1983 television series was created by Ryosuke Takahashi and Sunrise, featuring mechanical designs by Kunio Okawara.

Following directly in the footsteps of Takahashi's previous series Fang of the Sun Dougram, VOTOMS continued the trend towards hard science in the mecha anime subgenre.

The Gilgamesh and Balarant star systems had until recently been locked in a century-old galactic war whose cause was long ago forgotten. Now, the war is ending and an uneasy truce has settled.

The main weapon of the conflict is the common Armored Trooper, a mass-produced humanoid combat vehicle piloted by a single soldier.

They are known alternately as VOTOMS or Vertical One-man Tank for Offense And Maneuvers.

The series follows a main character named Chirico Cuvie, a special forces Armored Trooper pilot and former member of the Red Shoulder Battalion, an elite force used by the Gilgamesh Confederation in its war against the Balarant Union.
